ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

Vitacress Portugal is dedicated to the sustainable growing, processing and distribution of high-quality fresh produce.

Vitacress Portugal undertakes to comply with all current legislation, industry standards and best practices and is committed to sustainably use the natural resources it has at its disposal.

Vitacress Portugal has defined the following six key areas of action as part of its Environmental Policy:

Energy – Minimizing its consumption of non-renewable energy sources. It is aware of the environmental impact of its transport operations, both by road and air, and seeks ways to reduce its overall carbon footprint.

Water – Minimizing its consumption, always looking for new ways to recycle water and taking all steps to ensure its activities avoid negative impact on aquatic and other environments.

Waste – Minimizing the waste it generates, both organic and non-organic (such as packaging), seeking opportunities to reduce, reuse, recycle and cover otherwise redundant resources.

Soil and Crop Protection – Managing the soils it farms as to maintain their ability to grow quality crops while learning from its organic farming best practices.

Biodiversity – Vitacress Portugal is committed to protecting and improving biodiversity on and around its farms.

Local Community – Vitacress Portugal is committed to managing its activities respecting the right of the community to enjoy the local environment.

This Environmental Policy outlines the individual and shared responsibilities of everyone at Vitacress Portugal and we will also engage our suppliers and partners on these objectives.

Vitacress Portugal operates under an Environmental Management System which complies with the requirements of ISO 14001, disseminates and implements its environmental policy through internal publications, training employees and website.

Vitacress Portugal regularly reviews its environmental policy and objectives in order to ensure that they remain current and in line with its main activities.
